American Airlines Ford Tri-Motor

AmericanAirlines Ford Tri-Motor

AmericanAirlines Ford Tri-Motor, affectionately called "The Tin Goose", was built by Stout Metal Airplane Company, a division of Ford Motor Company, in the late '20's. With a seating capacity of fourteen plus pilot and copilot, it had a top speed of 104 m.p.h. and a carrying capacity of 2,095 lbs.

PRINTED IN U.S.A.—T151